

EMC Business Operations Leadership Development Program

Your career in information infrastructure. Accelerated.

EMC's Business Operations Leadership Development (BOLD) Program recruits highly skilled, results-oriented recent undergraduates to join EMC's world-class Global Business Operations organization. The Global Business Operations team is a strategic business partner to the Global Sales and Finance organizations. They assess, develop, and implement a portfolio of best-in-class business processes and tools in an effort to drive EMC's financial goals and business objectives. Sponsored by EMC® executives, the BOLD Program develops future Business Ops leaders through a three-year rotation program paired with a comprehensive training curriculum and ongoing mentoring with a seasoned professional on the Business Ops team.

Prerequisites

- Excellent written and verbal communication skills
- Analytical proficiency
- Strong organizational skills and attention to detail
- Great team player
- Motivation and professionalism
- Ability to thrive in a fast-paced, cross-functional environment

High visibility throughout the company

You'll join EMC as a Sales Business Analyst, quickly gaining experience in a variety of operational, analytical, and financial areas. Participants will rotate through three one-year assignments in a variety of high-profile operational groups such as

- Americas Business Operations
- Global Account Operations
- Global Channel Business Operations
- Global Sales Reporting & Planning
- Partner Support Center
- Pricing
- Product Operations

After completion of the three-year program, participants will have the chance to explore across the Business Operations organization for opportunities based on business need, skill alignment, and participant desire.

EMC Business Operations Leadership Development Program

If you're looking for a work environment that thrives on diverse perspectives and technology excellence—EMC is for you.

We're committed to inclusion in the workplace because recruiting, retaining, and developing the most talented people in the industry is not only integral to who we are as a company, it is a business imperative.

Take the next step

For more information on EMC BOLD and all the opportunities at EMC, visit EMC.com/college.

EMC. Exhilaration lives.