

EMC Global Services Leadership Development Program

Shaping tomorrow's leaders.

Your life in information. The rewards are exponential.

The EMC® Global Services Leadership Development Program (GSLDP) is a full-time, two-year opportunity for the next generation of leaders at EMC. It's your chance to join a small, select group of recent graduates and MBAs committed to accelerated career paths in information infrastructure.

Sponsored by EMC executives, the GSLDP grooms bright, ambitious, and high-potential future leaders to lead EMC's global success. Through intense training and mentoring, you'll establish a network and create a foundation to excel at EMC.

“The GSLDP provides a unique opportunity for recent graduates who wish to be part of EMC's world-class services organization and gain the resources, exposure, and experience necessary to succeed in this challenging, dynamic, and fast-paced environment. This program represents EMC's continued dedication to investing in young professionals by cultivating the critical thinking and technical understanding they need to become future leaders who will drive our business forward.”

Howard D. Elias, President, EMC Global Services and Resource Management Software Group

“With over 10,000 people in EMC Global Services, the GSLDP has provided me with the opportunity to work on high-impact, high-visibility projects. This program is a great fit for my career given the exposure to the various practices within the organization, as well as in different business functions. The value from the knowledge base and extended network developed during these 24 months at EMC is immeasurable.”
